

Childnet visit to Brewwood

We were delighted to welcome Charlie Benson into school who came to speak to the pupils about e-safety, how to stay safe whilst online but more importantly how to be a positive online citizen.

Charlie works for a company called ChildNet whose role it is to speak to both adults and children about the dangers that the internet can bring along with ensuring that they have the tools to access the web in a safe and productive manner.

Charlie spoke to all 4 year groups during the day about topics such as safe use of group chats, how to avoid getting scammed online and what to do if they don't feel safe whilst online. Later in the evening Charlie was joined by a group of Brewwood parents who came into school to join his workshop which focused on similar topics.

Childnet's workshop session has been recorded allowing any family that was unable to join us in school to view the session at their own convenience.

The session will remain available to parents for 2 weeks.

KS2 pupils / parents were also given some resources to take home which highlights the SMART targets for staying safe online along with signposting them to where they can find help if they need it.

More information can be found on the Childnet website.
